Big Game Hunters Secure Fine Heads

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Burnham, of New York Dr. H. C. Sifton and R. G. Uhlein, who have been in the far interior in quest of big game, returned down the Stikine on the Black Fox Wednesday evening and took passage south on the Dolphin. With the exception of Mrs. Burnham, each of the hunters secured their limit of moose, caribou, sheep and bear and have some exceptionally fine trophies.

F. R. Burnham known among motor boat fans as "Bob" was the owner of the famous Dixie speed boats.

Seattle Takes On Salmon

The City of Seattle southbound last Monday evening loaded canned salmon at the Alaska Sanitary Packing Company's warehouse and took on nearly 100 tierces of mild-cured fish from the Columbia and Northern wharf.

Fire At Sawmill

Stubborn Blaze Tests Firemen's Strength, Three Lines of Hose Used Before Fire is Checked.

It was not a foppish yet an entirely self-satisfied bunch of firemen that drizzled back from the scene of the sawmill fire at cock crow this morning, after successfully fighting one of the most stubborn although not very hot blazes yet fought by the company. They were wet and weak and covered with grime and sawdust accumulated during the progress of the battle, but the victory was well worth the price.

The shriek of the siren at two o'clock called out the force and the carts were quickly manned by the firemen and citizens who happened to be up late. The blaze though small, on account of its location under the shavings and sawdust bins and in an edging pile, required much water and was literally flooded by the three streams, two from the city water system and one from the mill supply, which was played upon it for the better part of two hours. At 4 o'clock one city team was released and only one stream kept up the wetting down until daylight but fire still smoulders in the refuse which is being rapidly cleared away by the workmen.

The origin of the fire is not known and from the indications and the location of the blaze in the sawdust beneath the mill and in the fuel bins it may have been smouldering for some time.

Another Electrician

A son was born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Palmer.

Local Post Office Advanced

From computations of gross receipts from sale of money orders, stamps, stamped envelopes etc., the local post office has been advanced from the fourth to the third class. The principal results of the change are that it is now an International office where foreign Money Orders can be purchased and the allowances made for rent, heat, light, clerk hire, etc, are granted.

Postmaster J. E. Warden, who is acting now under a recess appointment, has a petition for re-appointment ready to send in to the Department and as there is no opposition will probably be confirmed.

Non-Partisan Primary Tonight

Pursuant to a call for non-partisan primaries, issued by Mayors Stubbins and Bishop of Douglas and Juneau, a call for a local primary, signed by P. C. McCormick, J. G. Grant, L. C. Patenaude, D. Sinclair and T. J. Case, has been posted. The primary meeting will be held at Red Men's Hall, Thursday evening, September 3rd at seven o'clock and three Delegates and three alternates to the convention to be held at Juneau, October 10th, will be elected.

Still Chasing Elusive Salmon

Superintendent, T. E. P. Keegan, of the Shakan Salmon Company, of Shakan brought an injured employee to Wrangell on the Shakan last Sunday. The company is still canning fish but expect to close soon.

J. F. Johnson, national organizer of the Loyal Order of Moose and Past Dictator of the Juneau Lodge, who has just completed the installation of a lodge in Ketchikan, was a Wrangell caller Wednesday. On the completion of his trip th the towns on the west coast, which will be in about two weeks, Mr. Johnson expects to start the organization of a lodge in Wrangell.

Travels Stikine Alone

Lord Beauclerc, head of the Boulder Creek Hydraulic Mining Company, operating a hydraulic mining outfit on Dease Lake at the headwaters of the Stikine, made the perilous passage down the river alone in a crude scow, arriving at Wrangell Saturday.

Territorial Tips

Seven candidates were nominated at the Juneau Primary of the Bull Moose Party and the meeting took just seven minutes from opening to adjournment.

The Juneau Episcopal Church has a full vested choir.

"No. She told him she would gladly let him!"

A Simple Accomplishment.

"I understand you speak French like a native."

"No," replied the student. "I've got the grammar and the accent down pretty fine, but it's hard to learn the gestures."—Washington Star.

Be It Now!

"Have you forgotten that $10 you borrowed of me some time ago?"

"Oh, no; I still have it in mind."

"Well, don't you think this would be a good time to relieve your mind?"—Exchange.

In the Court.

Soap Made the Boat Go.

A writer in Science tells of an ingenious little skiff about two inches long which he constructed and provided with a piece of soap for the motor. The boat was of wood, paraffined to repel the water. The soap formed the stern board of the skiff. The boat was placed in still water in a bathtub and began to move as soon as the water came in contact with the soap. After gathering headway it reached a velocity of two inches a second. The power was derived from the potential energy of the surface water film set free by the diminution of surface tension, this reduction being due to solution of the soap.

A Pig in a Poke.

A pig poker is a dealer in pigs—not the large and portly fellow whom you meet now and again at the country market with a cargo of a hundred or more pigs of all ages, shapes and sizes for sale, but a little man who for the most part carries his wares upon his back or occasionally perhaps in a wheelbarrow. A "poke," of course, is a packet or sack, and a pig poker, therefore, is one who deals in pigs carried round from place to place in a poke. The old proverb agent the foolishness of "buying a pig in a poke" has its origin, of course, in this time honored method of pig purveying.—London Globe.

The Vital Question.

This overheard conversation is full of matter for consideration. The speakers were girls, one apparently young, the other trying to appear young. Get the subtle distinction? Well, one of them was saying: "I met Jimmy Teppid yesterday. You know Jimmy, don't you?"

"Sure I know him, or I used to. Did you tell him I was going to be married soon?"

"I sure did!"

"Did he ask how soon?"

"Well, he asked something like that."

"Didn't he say, 'How soon?'"

"No, dearie; he said, 'How long?'"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

At a Disadvantage.

While awaiting the coming of her friend, the mother, a visitor to a Baltimore household was holding a desultory conversation with one of the little girls in the drawing room.

"Where are your two little sisters?" the caller asked.

"Oh, they," observed the little girl with the air of one upon whom responsibilities rest heavily—"they're out somewhere to have what mother calls 'mischief' and what they call 'fun'."

"And why didn't you go to share in the 'fun?'" asked the caller.

The child sighed. "Mother trusts me so dreadfully," she explained, "that I can't have much fun!"—Lippincott's.

His Way of Helping.

When he examines in civics the pet question of a certain teacher is:

"What would you do to cut down the expenses of running the city?"

That question appeals to youthful patriots and embryo financiers, and civic reformers evolve brilliant schemes for lopping several millions of dollars off the annual budget.

But at the last examination the problem was tackled by an unimaginative youth who seemed unable to save the city by spectacular methods. Hard facts had a grip on him, and he finally wrote:

"Run errands for the mayor and not charge anything for it"—Washington Star.

Almost a Tragedy.

"It was a lovely night. The stars were twinkling, the moon was shining, the dogs were barking, and the cats were holding forth in chorus. I was strolling along the track when suddenly I saw a beam lying across the rails. I looked at it, but, much as I wished, I hadn't the power to move. I was in a tremble. I did not know what to do, for just at that moment I heard the rumble and roar and rattle of a coming express. Nearer and nearer it came. Louder and louder grew the noise. What was I to do? I was powerless. And then the engine leaped at the beam—and passed on unscathed. It was—it was a moonbeam!"—London Answers.

MEASURE OF SUCCESS.

It is one of the appointed conditions of the labor of men that in proportion to the time between the seed sowing and the harvest is the fullness of the fruit and that generally, therefore, the farther off we place our aim and the less we desire to be ourselves the witnesses of what we have labored for the more wide and rich will be the measure of our success.—John Ruskin.

The parents of the bride and bridegroom elect desire that all gifts due to them will be returned to them on the above date and will be thankful for all favors granted."

Deadly Marshes of Siberia.

The largest extent of marsh land in the world is to be found in the lowlands which form part of the steppe of Buraba, between the rivers Irtysh and Obi, in Asiatic Russia. The region is flat and covered with forests, salt lakes and quivering marshes extending over an area which is not less than 100,000 square miles. During the summer dense clouds of mosquitoes float over the treacherous ground. Immense areas of these dreaded swamps have never been visited by man. The marshes, treacherously concealed under a swaying layer of grassy vegetation, can only be crossed by means of a kind of snow-shoe in winter except at the peril of one's life.

Silencing Informers.

It is conjectured that one of the Berlin apaches shot his wounded companion to prevent any possibility of his giving evidence against the band. In one notable case a prisoner secured the assistance of authority for the same purpose. They were two captured Irish rebels of 1798; and one of them told the officer in command that he could make very important revelations, but that he was afraid to do so while the other was alive, because if by any chance that other escaped his own life would not be worth a day's purchase. The officer promptly had the stumbling block removed, and then the survivor simply said: "Now shoot me as soon as you please. I knew he'd peach."

REAL ELIXIR OF LIFE.

Contentment is the real elixir of life. It is the real fountain from which flow the waters of perennial youth. Sometimes it costs an effort, a tremendous effort, to say it is all right when our sky is clouded, but the man or woman who can say it is much better off for thus looking at the sunny side of the world than the person who harbors a grievance against all mankind and walks through the world burdened with the somber thoughts of his disappointments.
